²Gilbert Pike, The Pike Family of Carbonear, Newfoundland: A Little of its History (Newfoundland: privately printed, 25 March 1999), Wayne Pike is quoted here saying that the small town of Lytchett Minster is located about ten kilometers north of Poole, p. 7. ³Letter from Stephen B. Pike (P. O. Box 17 Carbonear, NF) to Robert M. Pike, 19 Jan 1940; Copy on file Records of Georgia A. Schoelz (King County, WA). Photocopy of original letter, received from Robert Milo Pike.

⁴My theory is that this individual's name was John, even though there is no direct evidence so far to support this other than family tradition. We know that there was a John Pike Jr. since his father, buried in the Pike family garden on Pike's lane, went by John Pike Sr. In his letters of 1940, Stephen B. Pike (1870-1958) states that his great-grandfather was named John. I believe he meant to say his great-great grandfather was named John. In his 'Pike Family' Don Shankle has connected the John Pike, b. 1744, as the son of this John Pike, b. 1724. However, I have not done so here because Claudius Watts, Stephen B. Pike, and others give no indication that the children in this family included a son named John. It is possible, but there is no evidence of it at this time. This means that the Pike family of John 'Carpenter John' Pike, according to all known records at this point, is not indicated as being related to our Pike family other than through the marriage of Patience Pike, daughter of Francis Pike Sr., to 'Carpenter John.' [See memo on John 'Carpenter John' Pike, b. 1744, for the other apparently unrelated Pike families living in Carbonear in the early 1800s.].

⁸My theory is that this individual's name was John, even though there is no direct evidence so far to support this other than family tradition. [See memo on John 'Carpenter John' Pike, b. 1744, for the other apparently unrelated Pike families living in Carbonear in the early 1800s.] ¶ Also, it is possible that Capt. Thomas Pike, b. 1735, d. 1835, (TMG #1731), is a brother to John Pike, Sr., but that is pure conjecture at this point so I have not included him here. If so, however, David and Wayne Pike would be connected to my Pike family lines. David's Pike DNA Project would help to solve this connection mystery.

Don Shankle has given this death date to this John Pike, however, according to these NF GenWeb Harbour Grace burial records, this John Pike is a John Pike, Sr. At this point we do not know of a son named John in this family. The death date will be left as is, but more research is needed to see which John Pike Sr. this death date applies to. Hereinafter cited as NF GenWeb Harbour Grace Burials, 1775-1779.

⁸⁹Letter from Emma Smith Farley (35 Bexley Crescent, Roseland, Mount Dennis, Ontario) to Mary Ann Smith Pike, circa 1920; Records of Georgia A. Schoelz (King County, WA). "My Dear Sister, You don't know how pleased I was to get a letter from you today. Also to hear that your family are doing so nicely. It is so nice to have them comfortably married. I did not know that you had so many grandchildren. You and Robert must feel quite proud of them. I had a letter from Jack's wife the other day, they are still living in Winnipeg. They are getting on fine but would rather be living in Toronto. Dora and I went for a short visit to Kingston this summer. I think the trip did me good for a while. I have been very ill again with bronchitis, I don't think this place agrees with me. It is very damp as soon as the sun goes down, the fog seems to rise up from the Humber River. Jim Miley Nellie's husband still works at the Elliott House. He is manager of the cafeteria. He comes out to see us once in a while. Our brother Jim is still living in Buffalo. I get a letter from him once a month. I am going to write and ask him to come over for Thanksgiving that is on Monday. I do hope he will be able to come. I have my youngest girl home with me all the time I am not feeling well enough to be left alone. We are having lovely weather this fall. So dry and warm, and now with best love to all, Your loving Sister Emma Farley.
